

While a state may not be allowed to establish weaker regulations than federal standards, the obverse situation does not seem to be a valid situation. I wish to register my opinion that New Jersey should be allowed to keep its more stringent "Do Not Call" regulations. I like the standards as they are, and do not want to see them weakened.